

Native Plant Seeding & Transplanting in the Fall

Panel Discussion Led by David Herbold & Penny Morgan

Presentation: Come to learn from those who have had great success establishing native plants in the fall. They transplant to expand natives in their yard. They collect seed and then sow the seeds late in the fall just before snow falls.

Presenters: David Herbold has guided the landscaping at Palouse Prairie Charter School with students, parents, and teachers to create learning moments and places. He aids local landowners with native plant projects as part of his local business, Woodstack LLC. Penny Morgan loves the beauty and wonder of native plants. She became President of the White Pine Chapter of Idaho Native Plant Society after retiring as a professor of fire ecology and management at the University of Idaho in 2019. Our local panelists include Helen Stroebel, Tom Besser, Sarah Metcalf, and more.
